It's Not Over Yet for These and Many More Wounded Alabama Boys

These wounded Alabama boys are typical of thousands from our own and other states who must spend many more weary months in army hospitals. For these-war isn't over yet and won't be for a long time to come. Ask any of these wounded veterans about the USO-how much it means to buddies who are still overseas-how much it helps to cheer convalescing veterans. They hope that through your generosity USO can carry on until its Approximately half the 1945 National War Fund will be used to carry on the work of USO and those other agencies that must keep on helping men and women in our own armed forces until they are demobilized. Remainder of the fund will finance war relief agencies that send food, clothing and medical supplies to the peoples of our allied nations. For millions of the liberated who have fought with us for victory, these next six months will settle the grim question of survival. We cannot let them down.

We are apt to think of love as the warm feeling of interest and emotion which suffuses one's nature in moments of special pleasantness or of intimate fellowship. But life is not made up of a succession of pleasant incidents, of sunny afternoons and moonlit evenings.

World needs most of all is love.

Remember that talking about love, or reading about it, or studying it in the Sunday school will not make it effective. We must put it into practice. Why not start now? You will be surprised at the results.
